INDIANA WILDLIFE FEDERATION

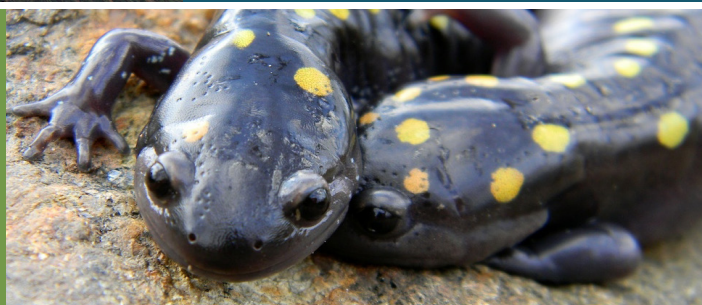

promotes the conservation and sustainable use of Indiana's wildlife, waters, and lands.

IWF is a statewide, nonprofit conservation organization. We engage actively in fish and wildlife policy and promote hunting, fishing, wildlife watching, and other outdoor recreation interests. We offer a variety of programs that provide resources, tips, and guidance for incorporating changes into landscapes to enhance habitat for wildlife.

HABITAT – Our habitat programs are the cornerstones of IWF's work to encourage sustainable wildlife populations for the health, enjoyment, and well-being of Indiana's residents. Based on scientific principles, these programs promote common-sense conservation by creating a connection to nature and a passion for stewardship of precious natural resources.

ADVOCACY – IWF continues its history of supporting state and regional policies that enhance the long-term conservation of Indiana's fish and wildlife and that maintain the right of citizen's to hunt, fish, and trap. We work side-by-side with state agencies and legislators to ensure public access to lands for outdoor recreation as well as to advocate for sustainable and renewable energy.

EDUCATION – IWF offers education programs to all Hoosiers, with special emphasis on connecting children and families to nature. Each year, IWF engages citizens through outreach events around the state and shares information on native plants, wildlife management, preserving habitats, and more. We also help develop future conservation leaders through our Gary Doxtater Internship and Charles Holt Scholarship programs.

As a member, you can strengthen a unified voice on critical wildlife and habitat issues, especially when influencing legislators, regulators, and public opinion leaders.

- You will receive Hoosier Conservation, our quarterly e-newsletter, to keep you updated on IWF issues and activities
 - Attend our conservation conferences, forums, and special programs as well as members-only field trips and member appreciation events
 - Receive timely updates on Indiana's most pressing conservation issues and learn how you can help
 - Cast your vote on important wildlife and habitat resolutions and policies and elect IWF officers at our Annual Meeting
 - Help protect Indiana's wildlife, lands, and waters by purchasing a 'WF' President Benjamin Harrison Trust Conservation environmental license plate for your vehicle. All proceeds from renewals are used to fund important conservation projects.
